Andice Store gutted by fires

The Andice Store, an institution known well throughout western Williamson County, burned to the ground early Tuesday evening despite valiant efforts of fire fighters from Georgetown, Florence, Liberty Hill, Jarrell and Killeen.

The store was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tippie, who make their home in Leander. Mr. Tippie had recently had most of the electrical wiring replaced, but a section which serviced a freezer was not redone, and is believed to have been the source of the trouble. The store was sold several years ago by Gus and Ben Jacob. brothers who became famous for their fine meat and sausage which they processed

The Jacob brothers built the store about 1937 on the site occupied earlier by an old hotel. "Teachers of our school lived at the hotel," Mrs. Estelle Stapp reminisced. Mrs. Stapp's brick home is adjacent to the Andice Store site, and she was at home the evening of the devastating fire.

Young Robert Devereaux of Florence, who, with his parents Mr. and Mrs. James Devereaux, were visiting Mrs. Stapp, first discovered the fire. Robert was playing in the yard when he noticed smoke around 7 p.m. and came in the house to tell his parents and Mrs. Stapp. They checked and immediately turned in the alarm.

Mrs. Stapp expressed admiration for the work of the firemen, and was appreciative that they watched over her adjacent property, too. They kept hosing down a gasoline tank which was near the burning building and the Stapp residence.

Twice in earlier years the store had caught fire, but both times it was contained before too much damage was done.

The Tippies had another recent misfortune to their property. Several weeks ago, their store was robbed of considerable merchandise. That loss was offset by joy. That same night, their fourth child was

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Fulton live just down the street from the store and he told the SUN that he was watering his dog in the back yard when he noticed smoke pouring from the building.

"I rushed over and helped Harold Dixon and Don Creed move the ice-making machine off the front porch, but it was too late to save anything inside the store," he recalled. It was about 7:00 when the fire started, the roof and walls caved in 3 hours

A gasoline station across the street from the fire-gutted store is the only other retail establishment left in Andice. A large store building at the opposite corner of the Andice intersection, now owned by Don Creel, is vacant. For many years it was operated as a grocery by Mrs. Willard Dollahon but closed some time ago. There is some talk that it will be restocked and put back into

Classes get underway Tuesday in Georgetown

School gets underway in Georgetown Tuesday morning at 8:30 with Superintendent Jack Frost predicted close to 2500 students in attendance, an increase of about 300 from last year.

Buses will run their regular routes on the first day and all lunchrooms will be open to rve noon meals. However, parents of students attending Westside Intermediate School should note that the breakfast program will not be starting until Monday,

'We'll have a full day of school Tuesday,'' Frost says, "and we don't anticipate any unusual problems. I'm sure we'll have some confusion about which bus a youngster should catch and probably we'll have some who get on the wrong bus and get temporarily lost, but hopefully things will all smooth out pretty quickly.

The enrollment at Georgetown High School is expected to approach the 800 figure, about 500 are expected in the Junior High, approximately 475 at Northside Middle School, 475 at Westside Intermediate and 550-575 at the Primary School.

'All our buildings are going to be crowded," Frost points out, "but we hope by next year we'll have the new classrooms which are included in the recently-approved bond issue. It's going to really push it to get them built, but we need the extra classroom space badly. "Our increased enrollment appears to be pretty evenly distributed, with all schools gaining about an equal percentage of students. Of course, we expect to see this growth continue, too. When you look at all the new homes being built in Georgetown, especially in the subdivisions west of town, you can see how the growth rate is increasing," he added.

'We have a lot of new people who have moved into town but there are some who have moved away that we don't know about," Frost says. "So we won't be able to get an accurate count for a while. There'll probably be some students who won't even get started for a week or so.'

Rosters of students, with their rooms and teachers listed, were scheduled to be posted at all schools below the high school level Friday. Students are urged to check these rosters before reporting for the first day of class Tuesday in order to know which firstperiod room they should go to and who their teacher will be

Unfortunately, I'll have to go to Japan. Maybe I could find a facsimile somewhere in California, but I doubt it. But I'm going to investigate. I'm a person with a mission.

I just finished one of the finest adventure books I've ever read — Shogun, a novel about Japan by James Clavell. It's a terrific love and adventure saga, with so much of Japan's history and culture woven into the story that you feel as if you've completed a fascinating college course by the time you reach the end of the book. Which is long. 1210 pages. Nonetheless, it reads like wildfire, and as you race toward the finish, you curse the fact that it will soon end.

The English pilot of a great sailing vessel, a great hulk of a man named Blackthorne, reaches the safety of a tiny Japanese fishing village in the year 1600. He is the first Englishman to arrive in Japan, and he is amazed by what he sees:

"He saw tiled and thatched roofs of other buildings over the wall (of his house) and, far off, high mountains. A crisp wind broomed the sky and kept the cumulus advancing. Bees were foraging and it was a lovely spring day.

"The garden was unlike anything he had ever seen; a little waterfall and stream and small bridge and manicured pebbled paths and rocks and flowers and shrubs. It's so clean, he thought. So neat.

In the 17th century, Europeans did not believe in bathing. They thought that fresh air and bathing could kill, by giving them something called the "flux." Hence, they had lice, smelled terrible and scratched constantly. Most bathed once a year. But the Japanese believed in cleanliness. When Blackthorne arrived, there was a great conflict of cultures, and he was physically forced to

Dozens of laws passed by the 65th legislature took effect this week. Motorcyclists over 18 are no longer required to wear crash helmets. The Sunset Act will require state agencies ever so often to prove that they still serve a useful function. The electric chair was retired in favor of state executions by lethal injections. Texans can now leave written directions not to have their lives prolonged artifically if they become hopelessly ill or injured. Hotels and motels can sell mixed drinks through room service.

Also, criminals or those accused of being criminals will have a harder time of it in Texas now. Tape recorded oral confessions can be used in court to discredit a defendant's testimony in his own behalf. Probation and parole will be harder to get, and convicts released after serving their sentences will face parole-type supervision.

You and I understand

There is no way President Carter could live up to his campaign promises. It was ever thus.

On the campaign trail, he vigorously criticized the foreign policy of his predecessors NOW HE ADMITS that his own foreign policy in the Middle East, Africa and Panama is an extension of the foreign policies of Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford and

Henry Kissinger

You and I understand.

But it is understandable, also, if our political system makes cynics of our sons.

The regurgitation of the 1970s has sent political giants into exile or into prison. Malfeasance and bribery in high places are no longer tolerable.

It might be well if this wave of righteousness should extend to the "fraudulent" practice of soliciting votes with unkeepable promises

YOU AND I UNDERSTAND that pre-election rhetoric is only distantly related to reality.

So it is no immense letdown for us to learn that the President is powerless to fulfill his promises of welfare reform; we knew any Congress would be intimidated by those voters.

And that the President would have to learn, as Dwight Eisenhower once complained, "You pick up the phone and order something done - and nothing

In addition to all of "our problems," the President, who is a husband and father, has his own. It is just as much a throat-scalding preoccupation for him as for anyone when his wife requires gynecological surgery. when his son's marriage is falling apart, when his daughter hates Washington

BUT WHERE REVERSALS in a President's private life might tend more to humanize him than otherwise, it is the inconsistency of his public promises and public performance which tend to make of the once-proud designation "politician" a kind of slur.

Now President Carter is told by his own economics advisers that he cannot keep his campaign promises to balance the budget, to reverse inflation, to reduce unemployment After all his pontificating about previous administration scandals, his own budget director falls under a cloud.

You and I understand how difficult it is for any administrator to surround himself with saints. And that our political system, for all its faults, judged by its fruits, is still the best available.

BUT IT IS NONETHELESS disillusioning to an oncoming generation when what our elected leaders do is so much less than what they promised to do.

The Carter promise to create an independent Department of Education.

The Pentagon is unhappy because he deep-sixed the B-1. The minimum wage he promised labor and common situs and right-to-work-all stillborn. The President says people are mistaking what he had hoped to do for what he promised to do, and you and I understand that. Don't we?

SOMEBODY UP THERE liked some of us mainly the folks just west of Round Rock --Thursday afternoon when a 15,000 pound load of dynamite exploded without causing serious injury to anyone.

IT COULD HAVE BEEN different, but thanks to the Lord and some fancy running by workers who saw and briefly fought a fire before jumping into their nearby cars and breaking every speed record in getting to safety, it was more spectacular than deadly.

It was quite a blast, doing damage to houses and other properties quite some distance. Homes a mile away were shaken by the blast. We don't know the cause of the fire and whether anyone was to blame. We're just happy that the damage wasn't greater and no one was killed.

Groucho - the misanthrope everybody loved

When comedians put another comedian on a pedestal, it often turns out to be their own. Thus Red Skelton paid final tribute to Groucho Marx as "one of the greatest of the clowns." Monologuists like George Burns gave him a last hand for his "wit" and "famous lines." Woody Allen described him as a man with "an outrageous unsentimental disregard for order" - which sounds exactly the way Woody might wish to be described himself. One iconoclast pointed out that Groucho was "anti-establishment before there was an Establishment," while George Jessel seemed to think he was the toastmaster among toastmasters.

Body-snatching, the 19th-century crime, has been suc ceeded by personality-snatching. When an elegist buries a celebrity, he works away until the departed resembles less his original self than - what do you know? - the elegist,

Then there was the walk. Designed for fast entrances and even faster exits, this predatory crouch signaled a man perfectly willing to trade his neighbor's 10-year-old horse for your new Mercedes, if only you'd be reasonable and throw in a little cash.

As further insurance Goucho thought up funny names. If - impossible thought! - you refused to laugh at him conning the whole universe, you had to laugh at Dr. Hugo Z. Quackenbush or Captain Jeffrey T. Spaulding doing it

And if all else failed, Groucho had the fail-safe Harpo to mime mischief at its most guileless, or simply honk, and Chico, to play piano or just wear a funny hat.

All that vaudeville could teach a comedian about the ways to grab and hold that toughest of audiences - these things Groucho knew. He had mastered almost every known method of making human beings laugh, from aphor-

AUSTIN—A new Texas Criminal Justice Plan draft sees possibility of an increase in crime so formidable that it could overrun the police and court system.

The two-volume study is awaiting Gov. Dolph Briscoe's review. The governor's Criminal Justice Division advisory board already has approved it. State criminal justice plans must be updated annually to establish eligibility for federal crime-fighting funds.

Data based on FBI uniform crime-reporting data for 1973-75 and Department of Public Safety statistics for most of 1976 project that total index crime in Texas, which has doubled during the last four years, will doub'e

The report points to an 11 per cent increase in murder 1973-76 and calculates the rate may jump 17 per cent by 1980. Rape increased 25 per cent and could increase an additional 31 per cent by 1980, according to computer projections. Burglary increased almost a third and may jump another alarming 42 per cent, the report forecasts. Assaults could decrease 15 per cent. No realistic projection could be made on the robbery rate.

"Taken at face value, the implications of these projections are formidable," the study concludes "They imply a demand on the already-overburdened criminal justice system that could prove unsurmountable. They imply conditions that could significantly change the lifestyles of Texas citizens . . . And they imply the failure of major efforts over the past few years to stem the increase in crime, All of these implications are frightening. Some may he valid. But no conclusions can be drawn at this time, because the validity of the statistics on which the projections are based is subject to serious challenge."

While expressing confidence in the 1976 DPS statistics. writers of the report acknowledge earlier data is "questionable at best" and may not be reliable for long range forecasting.

SHORT SNORTS

Comptroller Bob Bullock reported his field offices passed their goal of $75 million in tax collections during fiscal 1977, a month before close of the period.

Moderate and conservative Democrats are laying plans already to recapture control of the state party from liberals in 1978.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — Although both House and Senate committees have been instructed to take a look at possible new tax sources for the 1979 legislative session, Texas' top tax man doesn't see new taxes as likely.

Comptroller Bob Bullock and his office are conducting a series of studies on the state's tax structure — including the possibility of a refinery tax, which was proposed in the past session, but which was allowed to fall by the wayside this

Sen. Peyton McKnight, Tyler, who helped sponsor the proposal in the Senate, will be heading a committee on that side of the rotunda to look at the matter some more.

ON THE HOUSE SIDE, the Ways and Means Committee (chaired by Joe Wyatt, Victoria) has been given that assignment, along with some other matters.

While Bullock doesn't anticipate that new taxes will be required, he does expect that the question of taxes will continue to be a major issue in

"I think through the years. . . the number one issue in people's minds has been taxes," the comptroller says, "whether state, local or federal." But, Bullock says, before his administration, the comptroller looked at the question of taxes only for the needs of one biennium at a time. Now, he says, his office is working to look at the tax situation — in terms of what will be coming in and what will be needed — for a six- to 10-

"We'll be looking at the fairness of taxes. . . and need to look at the economic climate as well," Bullock says.

Moreover, he explains, he hopes to study the impact of taxes on the state's economic subregions, noting that taxes affecting petrochemicals would have different effects in various areas, because of the diversity of Texas'

And Bullock plans to look at what other states are doing, both in what is taxed, and how those taxes are collected and administered.

Exemptions in present Texas statutes also will be considered, he reports, as to whether they are doing the job they were intended to do - or whether they are too broad (or too narrow).

BULLOCK ALSO DEFENDS state government against charges of having been on a spending binge over the past few years.

State expenditures did increase 70 per cent in the past six years — but 37 per cent of that was due to inflation, he says.

Texas state government spending, on a per capita basis, has been lower than any other state, except Missouri in 1975, Bullock says.

"I think that speaks pretty well for the legislative and executive branches," the comptroller comments.

"Regardless of what the public thinks about politicians, I feel Texas has a pretty good state government. Bullock doesn't feel there will be a need for new taxes in 1979, unless conditions change drastical-The sales tax — Texas' biggest money-maker

- continues bringing in large amounts, with collections up 29 per cent over the last two years, and taxes coming in to the comptroller at an alltime high rate, Bullock reports.

Texas could be collecting additional revenue, in significant amounts, if Congress votes to deregulate the price of natural gas, he adds.

IF GAS PRICES INCREASE, utility bills would increase, and since those bills are subject to the sales tax, more money would be coming in from that - as well as from increased prices on

There are, Bullock notes, "so many intangibles" that it's hard to predict just what will be coming in from taxes over the next couple of years - but indications are that revenues will continue rising.

But, Bullock warns, that shouldn't make politicians or the public complacent, despite surpluses in the past two bienniums, since conditions could change.

OUT OF HABIT - St. Helen's Catholic Church's first two resident nuns, Sister Ancille Furlong (left) and Sister Margurite Goonan were honored after each Mass last weekend with a "Welcome Coffee." They are both Dominican Sisters of Sinsinawa, Wisconsin and will be the co-ordinators of the religious program at St. Helen's. Also in Georgetown for the special occasion was Sister Mary Griffin, also of Wisconsin, who along with Father Palermo was instrumental in placing the two nuns in the Georgetown parish. The nuns reside at their convent on West University Avenue and parishioners are invited to visit with them at any Should bobcats be protected, or should they continue to be on the list of 'Most Wanted' by bounty hunters?

This is a question which will be coming up for consideration soon by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and interested persons in Williamson County are urged to make their comments known right away.

Seems that a group called the "Defenders of Wildlife" has petitioned the national Fish and Wildlife officials to declare bobcats an "endangered species" and declare them off-limits to bounty hunters or stockmen who consider them a dangerous predator which should be shot on sight. This is a sticky situation, since the stockmen have suffered innumerable losses of areas if they aren't kept under control.

But if the government runs true to form, and decides that bobcats should not be killed, then it is quite possible that the entire state of Texas could be declared 'protected habitat' for bobcats, as well as coyotes and who knows what else.

Raisers Association is calling on the people to make their wishes known by writing to the Director. Fish & Wildlife Service, U. S. of Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240 no later than Nov. 14.

makes me nervous. I watch these guys work out every day and I know they're better than a fourth-place club. Still, I can't see the Horns beating one of the 'Big 3." There's something different about the Longhorns this year, and I'm not referring to the new stipes on their pants. The difference is the enthusiasm that Fred Akers has imbued in his troops. And when you combine that new attitude with rare talents like Earl Campbell, Johnny Jones (both of them), Brad Shearer and Lance Taylor, the mixture could be lethal. Everybody says the 'Horns are in trouble at quarterback, but don't you believe it. Either Mark McBath or Jon Aune can get the job

5) ARKANSAS — We tend to forget that until an avalanche of injuries decimated the Hogs, Arkansas was as good a team last year as there was in the conference. Just ask Houston. # Schrank praises Little Leagues

President Leon Schrank, in the program to increase, pointing out that the local boys baseball team went farther this summer than any Georgetown team in a long time, had plenty of praise for all the sponsors, coaches and parent representatives who worked with the program this year.

'Everything went well this season," Schrank said. "Of course, we had the usual minor problems from time to time, but overall it was a good year. Now we need to start planning for next

'Any ideas for improvement in our program are welcome, and should be sent to Georgetown Little Leagie, Box 707," he added.

The boys baseball team this summer won area competition and advanced to the Shillingburg and Sansom district level in Austin before losing out.

There were 417 Little Leaguers in six different leagues on 30 teams. Scott Terry, who led his Gregory-Portland team in home runs and stolen bases last season, has enrolled in Southwestern University.

Terry, a third baseman who hit .334 while stealing 29 bases, "has good speed and should be able to help us," says NAIA District Coach of the Year Jim Mallon.

Mallon has had to recruit heavily to replace a number of departing seniors who led the state's oldest university to its most winning season in history, 35-14 last spring.

Terry is among "the finest looking group of student-athletes I've ever recruited, Mallon claims.

The Pirates will be seeking their seventh straight year to win 30 or more games under Mallon's coaching. "It will be a big challenge, and we'll have to depend a great deal on some of these new players," Mallon says.

Cliff Harris of the Dallas the club but immediately captured the starting free safety job during pre-season.

He has held that position ever since, except for a tour of military duty that cost him half of his rookie season. Going into the 1977 season, Harris has averaged more than 100 tackles and assists annually and has 18 career interceptions eighth all-time among Cow-

Already this pre-season Harris has a pair of interceptions and has scored two touchdowns. The first was an 18-yard interception return against Seattle and the second came in the Miami game when strong safety Charlie Waters intercepted a pass at the Dolphins' 43-yard line, returned it to the 15, then lateraled to Harris, who went the rest of the distance for the tally as the half end-

Harris and Waters - both Pro Bowlers on the field are inseparable buddies off and have been since they were rookies together in 1970. Concerning the lateral, Harris said, "We'd planned it, we'd done it before. He's run behind me on a few interceptions, and I'd sent out the mental vibrations.

Miarni that night and losing to Cliff Harris is synonomous with wrist slashing. "I know I want to win tough," said Cowboys secondary Coach Gene Stallings during training camp. "And Cliff is always ready to play: the bigger the game, the better he is. "He's always a problem for us," reports Oilers quarterback Dan Pastorini.

'He and Waters hit like no pair of safeties in football." adds Bills wide receiver Bob Chandler. "They bust you."

'Being aggressive is probably the best part of my game," Cliff says. Through recognition I attempt to look at a play and analyze it and then react fast.

And as far as playing the 'big games," Harris says, 'I really enjoy playing against the good teams. My favorite game every year is when we play at Washington. The intensity involved in that game is at a peak. The feeling of the game in Washington is special. An old-time feeling. A good feeling of old-time football. You play in the dirt, the fans hate you, they boo you, it's cold. It is totally football. It's the weather, the season, the crowd, the other team. I really enjoy it. . forward to it.

In Dallas' Doomsday But, the Cowboys lost to defense, Harris plays free safety like an extra linebacker, making tackle upon tackle. He totaled 118 tackles in '76 and through four pre-season games this year has accumulated 24 tackles and a quarterback trap on a blitz. He had 10 tackles in last Saturday's 23-21 win over the Colts which snapped a two-game losing Loretta Swit, as a public relations executive for a hospital, and Vic Morrow, as the hospital's administrator, cope with a situation in the operating room, where two terrorists have kidnapped a billionaire during a surgical procedure in "The Hostage Heart," Friday, Sept. 9 (9-11 p.m., EDT) on CBS.

Citing ill health, Esther Rolle has asked to be released from Good Times and been granted the release. Executive producers for the show said,"We will not replace Esther with another actress. We will deal with her absence in a way we believe is both dramatic and realistic. The Evans family structure will be maintained, altering it to fit the new circumstances." Sounds like the kids will become orphans this fall. You'll remember John Amos was killed off on the series last season when he quit the show... ABC and Gabe Kaplan will take a shot at NBC's Big Event in the late fall when the Welcome Back, Kotter star heads 'Gabriel Kaplan Presents the Small Event." Special guests on this special which spoofs specials are Cindy Williams, Sid Caesar Fred (Fernwood Tonight) Willard.

Robert Blake is the guy that hates the 'suits" but it seems he'll be joining the tuxedo set as host of this year's Emmy Awards. The outspoken actor will control the podium on Sept. 11, when NBC airs the show, beginning at 9 p.m. (EDT). He is also nominated for Best Actor in a Series.

Theatre Masterpiece will launch another 52 weeks of new programming on October 30, following the conclusion of the currently-running "Dickens of London." Among the shows and stars set to light up the PBS schedule are: "I, Claudius," the rise and fall of 25 B.C. Emperor Claudius. Derek Jacobi stars as the stutterer who came to rule the world. Also featured are John Hurt and Sian Phillips. Tolstoy's geatest novel, "Anna Karenina," come to life in January. Heading the cast are Nicola Pagett (Elizabeth on the first "Upstairs, Downstairs" series), Eric Porter (Soames of "The Forsyte Saga") and Stuart Wilson of "The Pallisers." Later, there will be Jane Seymour, of NBC's "Seventh Avenue," co-starring with Leo McKern and John McEnery in a spine-tingling murder mystery, "Our Mutual Friend." Plus, "Poldark" will swashbuckle his was through 16 new episodes. Not a bad line-up at

Fans of J.R.R. Tolkien's classic, "The Hobbit," will have a special treat this Thansgiving, when NBC airs a new animated version of the happenings in the mythical land of middle-Earth, on Nov. 27. Voices for the film were provided by a number of well-known actors. Orson Bean speaks for Bilbo Baggins, the little Hobbit around whose adventures the story revolves. PATRICK McGOOHAN, remembered from his Secret Agent days, returns to TV as Dr. Sid Rafferty, seen here with his associate Dr. Gentry (JOHN GETZ) in the premiere of the new CBS series Rafferty, Mon., Sept. 5 (10-11 p.m., EDT).

Maggie holds 'Sugar Time' together

One of television's newest stars is the perky Marianne Black of "Sugar Time!," a new series starring Barbi Benton, Didi Carr, and Marianne Black as an aspiring three-girl rock group.

Marianne has been a performer since she was four years old and appeared with her dancing instructor mother in her home town of Cleveland, Ohio. "As long as I can remember I've always wanted to be on stage even when I was four," she says. "I was mostly trained for ballet, but I didn't have the ballet body: I'm short and I don't have the long legs," adds Marianne, who has appeared with the Akron Ballet and has studied with Balanchine and Robert Joffrey

Marianne turned her energies toward musical comedy when she was seventeen. "In high school I auditioned for a community musical and realized I could sing," she says. "I love ballet, but couldn't smile in ballet, not the way I wanted to smile."

Marianne attended Stevens college where she met her husband-to-be, John. After college, she joined the Kenley Players, where she sang "all leads." She appeared in "Guys and Dolls," "No, No Nanette," "The Boyfriend," and "Bus Stop." Marianne credits John with much of her current success. "When we first came out here (California) she says, "He got a job in a bank and worked there a year and a half so I could pursue my career . . . because of the series he can quit the bank and pursue his own career now. He has an agent and is pretty

MARIANNE BLACK

I have a excited wonderful husband. I don't think many men would do that.

Marianne says she received her "only acting training at Stevens. haven't studied with anybody out here. I would like to study acting, it's probably my weakest point. I don't know that it's totally necessary for TV: everything's done very quickly and sometimes the director gives you line readings ... It's necessary for films

I haven't had the time nor, till now, the money for acting lessons, but I would love to take them."

Marianne found that, in California, it was "extremely difficult to find an agent . . . that was one of the hardest things . nobody takes you unless you have film or TV credits and you can't get film or TV credits unless you have an agent . . . I did a children's TV special, and luckily when I sent my picture in, somebody at the agency I have now remembered me . . . I had been to 25 other agents before that.

"They don't care about stock out here, just TV and film credits," she says, adding that this is probably because 'There is a transition to be made from stage to TV . . . you have to be much broader on stage, everything is bigger, and you have to be loud your takes must be big enough for an audience of 2,500 to see them . . . I think it's easier to go from stage to TV than from TV to stage. It's easier to bring your motions down. I'm still adjusting. I play very musical comedy sometimes, with my takes out to the audience or the camera instead of to the other actors."

About "Sugar Time!" Marianne says, "I feel like I've hardly paid my dues. I've only been out here a year and a half and here I have a wonderful role on a TV series. I'm glad it's happend so far and I hope it keeps up."

Marianne described Maggie, the character she plays on "Sugar Time!" "I got the group together kind of like Miss Show Business, I live to perform

... The character's a little more aggressive than I am and not afraid of making a fool of herself . . . my problem is trying to keep the group together all the time . . . she's very interested in a career and loves her friends but might almost try to make it on her own . . . very forceful, very aggressive, but still very nice."

Has she enjoyed working

HOT SINGLE-- Why did George Harrison, once one of the Beatles, just get divorced from his wife Patti. Could you print a recent picture of him, I want to see if he's still very cute. G.F., Longview, Wash.

The divorce was automatic, after their two year separation. One reason is Patti Boyd Harrison fell in love with Eric Clapton, legendary guitarist and good friend of George's. George didn't seem to mind the new coupling since he was wandering a bit himself, and that was that. Unfortunately, I don't have a recent photo, but I can tell you he's as sunkencheeked as ever, has a moustache at the moment and is sporting a healthy tan. He's probably not as "cute" as in the early '60s, since he's now in his mid-30s, but judging from your handwriting, it wouldn't seem you were old enough to have known George back then.

First things first. Glaser is a 34-year-old Aires, born March 25th. Bunnies reproduce at a rapid rate, but a hundred is way too many. The show which was filmed in Hawaii employed about 25 or so curvacious cuties from the Playboy fold. That, in itself, tells you that the show is concentrating on some other things besides violence RUNNING-CBS nounced it was having Logan's Run on this fall. Who is playing Logan? Are they using the same cast as from the movie? What has happened to Michael York and Jenny Agutter from the original?

A young actor named Gregory Harrison is playing Logan in the series, while Heather Menzies is taking over the Jenny Agutter role. Michael York can currently be seen in "The Island of Dr. Moreau," and Agutter is looking for work I would assume. At the moment she hasn't been announced for any TV series or feature films.

Eric Bercovici Snoops Watergate

ABC will open its fall season with a week-long special, "Washington: Behind Closed Doors." Eric Bercovici who, with David Rintels, wrote the special. says that "it was inspired by Watergate... It's an attempt to tell a parallel story to events that took place in this country." Mr. Bercovici emphasized that "what we are doing is fiction. It is not a docudrama. We are telling a fictional story with fictionalized characters."

"Washington: Closed Doors" is based in part on John Ehrlichman's book, "The Company". Mr. Bercovici says that "out of our 12 hours, material from the novel takes up about 90 minutes... We've used it as bookends... The Ehrlichman novel is the story of a struggle between the President of the United States and the director of the CIA. We used that to open our story and to close

"It was an opportunity." Mr. Bercovici continued, "to tell what I think was a very powerful story, a story about government that has never been told before. Ten years ago, no one could have imagined that kind of story. We wanted to tell a story about the abuse of power and to expose the cynicism that created the atmosphere in which a story like this can happen."

Mr. Bercovici, who is a second generation Hollywood film writer and has no politics in his background, solved the problem of writing about politicians "by doing an immense amount of research. Dave Rintels, Stanley Kallis (the show's executive producer) and I spent a lot of time in Washington... talking to people, reading... we immersed ourselves in the political world of Washington... almost without exception

About his collaboration with David Rintels, Mr. Bercovici said, "We got into 'sync' very quickly with the project, We knew just what we wanted to do and it was a very smoothworking relationship. David and I wrote the first episode together. I wrote the second, third, fourth, and fifth, and David and I wrote the sixth and last episode together. We were both supervising producers of the project.

"It wasn't the kind of project where the writer is banished after they turn in the script," Mr. Bercovici said of "Washington: Behind Closed Doors." had something to say about just about everything. We were on the set every we were actively involved in the production from the beginning right through to the editing, scoring, and dubbing."

Mr. Bercovici describes himself as "very pleased, enormously pleased," with the production. "It has been literally a year of solid work and very satisfying. Because of the long schedule - we filmed for 104 we were able literally to tailor each major part for the actors. I don't think a day went by when something wasn't rewrit-

Mr. Bercovici feels the production benefitted from this 'enormously. There was a continuity of style that went all the way through and a working relationship that developed which could not have happened with different directors... we were like a repertory company... we evolved into a very smooth machine."

Bercovici wanted to be a film writer "always. That was something that was my ambition for a long time... The material that I have worked on has been varied. Until 'Washington: Behind Closed Doors', I had never written a political drama. It's a fresh field to me, and that's always a little exciting."

Which one am I talking about? Aren't they both the same? No, she's not an exact, carbon copy, of her mother of the when you look again, you see that there mother - for when you look again, you see that there is a generation between them. She wears the bright colors in her dress with the cute designs. Her dreams are different than her mothers. She is more outgoing. Yet in the mother you can see a quiet humor and in her closeness to her daughter, a gentle protectiveness. Her mother's dreams are sometimes too ambitious, but in the "Encouragement Department" she works just fine.

There is one dream and ambition they both have, however; and that is to be like our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and to be of service to the church. Their goodness is of God.

"For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil." I Peter 3:12. @Coleman Adv. Ser., 1

The Church is God's oppointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore even dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God. Classes in the Liberty Hill Public Schools will open on Tuesday, September 6, fifteen minutes later than last year. The new time of 8:30 is to make it better for the vounger students and the teachers who drive up from Austin. This should be a big year for the Liberty Hill Schools, because there is an all-out effort being made to insure that our school will continue its upward trend to become fully accredited; at the present time, as you probably know, we are in probationary period. The Liberty Hill School system, its administration, faculty, and staff, is anxious to continue to be second-to-none. and with the support of the community the high goals which have been set will be attained and exceeded.

There will be many more youngsters than usual in evidence now that school will be open, as they go to and from school, and everyone should be extra careful when driving anywhere in town but especially near the schools.

THIS IS the weekend for the last Market Day of the summer, and it should have the usual attractions for all who come-there will be food, fun, and countless other items with something of interest for everyone. The Market Days will continue on the first Saturday of each month, and there will also be an "Arts and Crafts Fair" in October. Watch for the coming date. Be sure to make plans to be among the many friendly people who will be attending Market Day on Liberty Hill Square. Saturday evening there will be a street dance with "Crazy Creek" again providing the music for those of you who love to dance.

Dean Cluck has informed us that the Liberty Hill Garden Club Judging Team made its usual tour of our fair community to determine the prize-winning "Yard of the month." Due to the extremely hot and dry weather the ladies found that there were not quite as many well groomed yards, and they are all hoping and praying for rain, as are we Ann Teague of the Garden Club was the winner of the plaque, and Marian McMahan received honorable mention. The winner of the plaque from among nonmembers was Mrs. Carl Shipp, Miss Velma Hancock being first runner-up, and Ruth Foust coming in third. All of these ladies are to be congratulated for doing their part to make our community an even more pleasant place for all of us with their green, well groomed vards.

Dean Cluck, the publicity chairwoman for the Garden Club, informs us that the new year for the club will begin on Wednesday, September 14, with the first meeting beginning at 10 a.m. at The Rock Church of Christ in downtown Liberty

BE SURE to mark this day on your calendar and come out to become a member of this enjoyable, educational club. All members and all prospective members are urged to be there for an enjoyable learning experience.

The Twelfth Annual Jerry Lewis "Labor Day Telethon" will be broadcast in the Austin area from 8 p.m. on September 4, until 5:30 p.m. on September 5, on KTVV, Channel 36, in Austin. KTVV will cut away from the network show approximately fifteen minutes of each hour to present eyewitness reports of MDA activities in the Austin area. In Liberty Hill, Laura and Jack Copeland at 778-5037 will be at their home to receive donations, including pledges by phone, for the Muscular Dystrophy Drive - be generous with your donations, and by so doing help speed the day that this dreaded disease will be conquered.

-0-On September 9, at Moody at 8 p.m. this year's version of the Liberty Hill Panthers will play their second game of this new football season. Be sure to go out and support the home team every chance of Adam and Eve" will be mons at 5:45 p.m. Thursday. September 8.

Staging the musical comedy will be the Alpha Omega Players, the nation's most active repertory theater company, in a return engagement to the state's oldest university.

Tickets for the dinner and play will be $4.50 ($2 for the play only). Those who wish to go through the cafeteria line before the play should make reservations by calling the fine arts office in Georgetown, 863-6511, ext. 328, before 5 p.m. Tuesday, September 6. The play is the first act of a three act musical, "The Apple Tree," which ran on Broadway for 13 months. Twain's work was adapted to the stage by Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, composers of "Fiddler on the

In reviewing "The Diary," Walter Kerr of the New York Times wrote:

'We are in the Garden of Eden. Eve is startled and then pleased to look into a reflecting pool. Adam is so upset by the alluring creature who keeps talking so much when he wants to think that he is quite certain, two days after Eve is created, that she'll never live to four.

'As soon as the first house is built, Eve wants it redecorated (she hates brown, even if it's the color of wood), and having been responsible for that initial accident with an apple, she will go on serving baked apples at dinner time. The mood is simple, playful, wry, and captivating," Kerr

The play is produced and directed by Southwestern University alumnus Drexel Riley, who organized Alpha-Omega Players in 1967.

Fuel is essential in the production of electricity. Texas Power & Light Company generating plants burn very large amounts of natural gas or lignite coal and, when supplies of gas are short, oil to produce steam which operates turbine generators.

Fuel costs are charged to each TP&L customer according to the number of kilowatt-hours of electricity used by the customer.

Before July 1, 1977, your basic rate for electric service included a fuel cost of about eight-tenths of one cent for each kilowatt-hour. The additional cost of fuel used to produce your electricity was shown on your bill as a fuel adjustment factor.

Since July 1, 1977, under requirements of the new Public Utility Commission of Texas, all fuel costs have been removed from the basic rate. Now, the entire amount you pay for the fuel required to produce the electricity you used is shown on your bill in the space identified. Fuel Amt. This amount is figured by multiplying the number of kilowatt-hours of electricity you used by a fuel adjustment factor which appears on your bill in the space identified. Fuel Cost per Kwh. This factor is simply the per kilowatt-nour cost of all fuel required to produce your electricity

The fuel cost per kilowatt-hour and the fuel amount on your electric bill will vary from month to month. These variations, either up or down, occur as the price TP&L pays for each kind of fuel fluctuates and as the amount of each kind of fuel used varies.

Hurricane in 1921

With Hurricane Anita being regarded as a 'dangerous, major hurricane" as it moved toward the Texas coast, some folks in Central Texas may be reminded of a hurricane back in 1921 which triggered perhaps the greatest rainstorm in Texas history.

was mean

That hurricane entered Mexico from the Gulf and touched off torrential rains as it moved northeasterly across Texas. Record floods occurred in Bexar, Williamson, Travis, Bell and Milam counties, killing 215 persons, with property losses over $19 million.

Five to nine feet of water stood in downtown San Antonio and a total of 23.98 inches of rain was measured at the U.S. Weather Bureau in Taylor during a 35-hour period with a 24-hour maximum of 23.11 inches on Sept. 9-10.

The greatest rainfall recorded in United States history during 18 consecutive hours fell on Sept. 9 at Thrall in the eastern part of Williamson County, with 36.40 inches being recorded.

So, while residents of Central Texas are hoping for some much-needed rain from Hurricane Anita, they certainly aren't wanting a repeat of the 1921 hurricane

East Williamson County

YESTERDAY I went to the market with no intention to buy anything. It was the Taylor Cattle Auction Barn on highway to Circleville and Dallas. I don't understand the auctioneers jabber and that makes it more interesting. This thing is good deal like the warning not to tie your shoes in a watermelon patch to avoid suspicion. At these sales you're not supposed to scratch your ear, or you may buy something you don't want

I find it interesting to watch the professionals buying. Just a slight movement of hand, and they bought ring full of animals, have them loaded on their truck or trailer before a "layman" knows what happened. And if it's bought by Zimmerhanzels it could be already barbecued. They always have a good crowd but most are looking and listening.

IT IS A GOOD PLACE for ranchers and farmers to meet and exchange information and little gossip and ideas. It's air-conditioned, and Laura runs a genuinely good eatery there, so everybody is happy, well-fed, and feels among his own.

I go there mostly to meet my favorite doctor, R. G. Garrett. He is there in his professional capacity. . . a busy man. There isn't much time for talkathon.

Talking about cattle business reminds me of one of our neighbors out in the country, a long time ago. He retired from postal service and decided to buy some land and raise cattle. Inexperienced, his first foundation purchase was one cow and nine bulls. However, he learned, stuck with it and now owns a pretty good-sized ranch in South Texas and has a large herd of pure-bred Angus cattle. He is doing well and occasionally visits the Taylor auction.

TAYLOR WELCOMES its new postmaster Ed Childers. We hope he stays longer than his predecessors. Remember the old order when a postmaster was appointed he served until he died or became too old to func-

LOTS OF TREES in the east Williamson County are dying of drought and abnormally hot weather, and that's a pity. If they are not completely dead, they can be saved by using the Ross Root Feeder to water them. It is sold in hardwares and nurseries. It is inexpensive and effective. Time to do it is NOW.

JUST HEARD that hurricane Anita abruptly changed her course and gained speed, and that we now have a better chance for a good rain. It can't come too soon or too much. We want the rain but don't care to meet Anita personally.

BACHELOR with 80 acres of good land would like to meet a lady with tractor. Object, matrimony. Send picture of the tractor.

undressed by anyone, let alone these uncivilized natives. But to be undressed publicly like a helpless baby and to be washed like a baby with warm, soapy, scented water while they chattered and smiled was too much.

Then they had laid him gently into the vast heat of the deep water and soon he could bear it no longer, and they laid him gasping on the bench once more. Blackthorne had never known massage. At first he had tried to resist the probing fingers but then their magic seduced him and soon he was almost purring like a cat.

Blackthorne became a quick convert. The Japanese bath became one of his most cherished pastimes. "He went through the corridor to the back of the house, out into the garden, along the circling path to the mudwattled bath house. A servant took his clothes and soaped him and shampooed him and poured water over him to wash away the lather and the dirt. Then, completely clean, gradually - because the water was so hot he stepped into the huge iron-sided bath and lay down.

'Christ Jesus, that's grand,' he exulted, and let the heat seep into his muscles, his eyes closed, the sweat running down his forehead.

Heaven

Take me to Japan, to the village inns where the bath is still a ritual of relaxation, where tea, or "cha", is poured with ceremony, where one sleeps on thick futon mats, and where one can sit in gardens designed to be in perfect harmony with nature, and learn to be at peace.

I'm excitedly planning a Japanese vacation, which I should be able to afford in about 'It all depends on how things work out. Tippie said he was at his farm in Leander when he heard the news, about 8 o'clock. The store had fallen in by the time I got there.

From hearing reports from some of the people who got to the fire early, Tippie said, he thought the problem started in the attic "But I sure don't know for certain," he add-

Parker took the stand Wednesday, but chose not to make any statements.

I take the 5th," said Parker to defense attorney Bill Buckner's repeated questions. Fochler had evidently been drinking and was under prescription tranquilizers for anxiety at the time of the escape.

"THIS MAN is not a Clyde Barrow or a Bonnie Parker," said defense attorney Buckner, asking the jury to give Fochler a light sentence

He took that butcher knife, stuck it in a man's face and made him let out two of the most dangerous criminals in Williamson County - turned them loose on us," said District Attorney Ed Walsh arguing for the jury to give Fochler a long sentence.

ALL THREE prisoners who escaped on February 7 were in custody within one hour. Fochler and Parker were arrested near Waco on IH 35 in the jailer's car by DPS

Muniz left the jail but then called from a relative's house in Georgetown and said he wanted to turn himself in.

On February 7, Fochler threatened the jailer with a butcher knife, then took his wallet, jail keys and car keys, said Sheriff August Bosshard after the escape.

THE KNIFE was apparently stolen from the jail kitchen where Fochler worked as a

'Fochler was a model prisoner,' said Bosshard. "As a trustee he could have walked away from the jail at any time, any day of the week.

'He also had only 109 days left to serve,' said Bosshard.

During the trial it came out that before the escape Fochler has asked Bosshard to let him out of jail during the day on a work release program.

BOSSHARD had told him he could not do

During the trial there was speculation that Fochler's resentment against Bosshard for denying the work release program, added with the effects of the alcohol and tranquilizers may have caused him to try the escape to get revenge.

Fochler had pleaded not guilty before the trial, but after the first three days of the trial he changed his plea to nolo contendre.

A PLEA of nolo contendre in a criminal trial is," tantamount to a plea of guilty," said Judge Lott.

.abit resigns

Georgetown police officer Jesse Labit worked his last day for the force on Friday, September 2.

Labit, who had worked in the Georgetown area 23 years, said that he was resigning for "personal reasons" and will soon be moving to Rockdale where he owns some property.

"I sure will miss the people on the street," Labit said, "but I am glad to be going.

Labit has routinely walked a beat in downtown Georgetown for several years and his main duties consisted of monitoring the traffic and parking around the square.

Although Labit did not give any reason for leaving the Georgetown police department he did say that he wanted to "ease out while everybody is in a good humor.

Police Chief Travis Thomas said that he knew of no reasons for Labit to leave and added, "We will replace him as soon as we can.

Thomas also said that a regular duty day officer would be assigned to Labit's tasks until a replacement is found mother living just sixty miles from the coast, I fail to see what is possibly such disastrous news for so many fellow Texans could be good news for anyone.

The idea that you could blithely see only the local effects of a hurricane is absolutely cold blooded or shortsighted.

Apparently you have never had to sit through a hurricane, stranded for days, with nothing to eat that's hot because the winds have torn down the electric wires, unable to flush toilets due to the immense amount of water flooding the streets and sewers, having to read by the light of a sun covered by what seems to be an unlimited amount of clouds.

Secondary provisions are possible, but it takes time, skill and some amount of danger and these are, after all, only a substitute for the usual comforts of home

During the last hurricane. my mother spent most of the first day staring out the back window. A power line had broken loose and was resting on the chain link fence that ran up and down our back alley. It was hours before the company was able to kill that wire. All that time, the whole fence was a live wire that could hurt or kill anyone who happened to touch it. Do you know what it's like

I realize we here need rain. Farmers and ranchers in almost every section of the state do. But, as far as I'm concerned, if rain for here means that so many people have to suffer so much loss and pain, then I'd rather do without than have us all suffer city ordinances. It is most important that ALL residents of Georgetown take an active interest in the future excellence of our city. We must concern ourselves with anything that is either good or bad for Georgetown.

I believe that the above editorial is an excellent means of calling everyone's attention to these matters that affect every resident and citizen in Georgetown. Thank you,
